

VAN TUYL TAKES OVER BIG LOAN COMPANY

Repeated Violations of State
Banking Law Laid to the Industrial's Officers.

ABOUT 5,000 MEMBERS

Attorney Says It Will Pay $2-
519,299 Liabilities in Full—
Allied Mortgage Concern in Trouble.

George C. Van Tuyl, Jr., superintendent of the State Banking Department, took possession yesterday of the Industrial Savings and Loan Company, of this city. Its dealings with the New York Mortgage Company, of which Mr. Van Tuyl also took charge, and with the Columbia Real Estate Company, a New Jersey corporation, are said to be responsible for the action by the Banking Department. Frank M. Patterson, attorney for Superintendent Van Tuyl, has charge of the investigation into the affairs of the three companies. There is an intimation of criminal liability. The Industrial Savings and Loan Company has been in business on an extensive scale since 1902. Its members are said to number about five thousand. It had made loans on real estate in the counties of Erie, Kings, Niagara, Oneida, Queens, Richmond, Schenectady and Westchester and in the State of New Jersey. The assets, as shown by the examiner's report to the Banking Department, aggregate $3,414,872, including $1,770,023 in loans, bonds and mortgages, $555,333 in real estate and $107,467 cash on hand or in banks. The aggregate amount due shareholders is $2,322,024, and the total liabilities amount to $2,519,299. The deficit amounts to $197,275. If the payment of dividends on July 1 had not been forbidden by the Banking Department, the total deficit would have been $144,496. It is said that within the year its expenditures exceeded its earning capacity by $18,000.

Officers of Both Companies. George A. Roff is president and treasurer of the Industrial Savings and Loan Company. Frank E. Knox is secretary, and Thomas H. Rothwell is its attorney. Frank E. Knox is president and Thomas H. Rothwell is secretary of the Columbia Real Estate Company, which is capitalized at $100,000. Its assets, according to the last report published, were $660,142 and it had outstanding an issue of $400,000 debenture bonds, said to be secured by the pledging of first mortgage loans. Benjamin D. Haight, of New Berlin, N. Y., has been designated as special deputy superintendent to assist in the liquidation of the concerns.

The Industrial Savings and Loan Company, it was found, carried among its assets shares of the Columbia Real Estate Company, on which it placed a valuation of $38,250. Investigation showed, it is alleged, that the Columbia Real Estate Company had never paid a dividend and that its expenses exceeded its earnings. The money collected by the Industrial Savings and Loan Company and the New York Mortgage Company, it was found, had been loaned largely to the Columbia Real Estate Company, directly and indirectly, upon undeveloped vacant land or on plots in process of development.

The Columbia Real Estate Company has been selling stocks and bonds to the general public, and, according to the reports made to Superintendent Van Tuyl, would be unable to fulfill its obligations to the Industrial Savings and Loan Company and to the New York Mortgage Company. In a statement given yesterday it was said that the investigation made by Superintendent Van Tuyl's men showed that "officers of the Industrial Savings and Loan Company have been guilty of repeated violations of the state banking law and of gross misrepresentations with reference to the manner in which the business of this corporation was being conducted."

Action Came as Surprise. Mr. Rothwell, the legal representative of the Industrial Savings and Loan Company, said yesterday that while representatives of the State Banking Department had been investigating conditions for the last two weeks, it was a surprise when they took possession of the office.

"We were told by the department last year to reduce loans and the rest of it," said Mr. Rothwell, "and we agreed to reduce them $50,000 by the coming September. So far we have reduced them $20,000, and with a little more time could have met our agreement."

The company, Mr. Rothwell declared, had 25 per cent of its loans on unimproved property or vacant lots and the rest on improved property. The company had experienced great difficulty, he declared, in making collections because of hard times. Many of those who were paying for their homes were a year in arrears.

"The company is in a position to pay 100 cents on the dollar," he added.

The "land business," the legal representative said, had been "absolutely dead" for a long time.

GANG ATTACKS A NEW "COP"

Fierce Fight Results in Arrest of Three Ruffians.

East Side gangsters tried to kill a new "cop" of the East 51st street station last night, and when a priest found one of the "cop fighters" lying on the sidewalk and leaped over to succor him the gangster tried to drive a blow into the clergyman's face.

The gangsters who inhabit Second avenue from 40th to 47th streets have been quiet for about a year, but last night they broke loose again and tried to vent their spite on Patrolman Henry Krank, who had been sent away from their lair by the police about two weeks ago. Krank has only been in uniform about five or six weeks, and the gangsters determined to take advantage of him because of his inexperience.

He was attracted by a fight between William Thomas, of No. 227 East 43d street, and an unknown man last night, but when he ran up to the belligerents they instantly forgot all about their own quarrel and attacked the policeman, summoning others to their aid. Krank blew his whistle, and Patrolmen Sheehan and McNulty came running up and waded into the fray, which became serious. Bricks fell from roofs and sticks were wielded by both sides.

A boy ran into the East 51st street station just as Lieutenant Miller was turning out the stationary post men and gasped: "De gang's killin' dat new 'cop'."

Six patrolmen found Krank, McNulty and Sheehan having a hard time, but quelled the riot and arrested Thomas, Edward Doran, twenty-one years old, a driver, of No. 249 East 47th street, and Thomas Hayes, twenty-two years old, a driver, of No. 250 East 51st street.

When the row was in progress Father John Schmidt, who had just finished hearing confession, ran out of the Church of St. Boniface, at Second avenue and 47th street, and found Thomas lying on the sidewalk bleeding profusely. Father Schmidt leaped to his aid. Krank blew his whistle, and Patrolmen Sheehan and McNulty came running up and waded into the fray, which became serious. Bricks fell from roofs and sticks were wielded by both sides.

A boy ran into the East 51st street station just as Lieutenant Miller was turning out the stationary post men and gasped: "De gang's killin' dat new 'cop'."

HASTINGS STRIKE ENDS

Men Gain 5-Cent Advance and Recognition of the Union.

STRIKER'S WIFE KILLED

Boy Trips Over Deputy Sheriff's Gun and It Goes Off—Husband Prevents Riot.

Hastings-on-the-Hudson, June 29.—The strike which has been in process for two weeks at the National Conduit and Cable works is over, and the men will return to work Monday. The company has agreed to give them advances of five cents in wages—the men wanted an increase of 25 cents—and the company has also agreed to recognize the American Federation of Labor, although they will not make the shop a strictly union one.

The settlement of the strike was brought about through the efforts of Sheriff Doyle of Westchester County, who acted as mediator. He got the committee of the strikers together this afternoon, and they went into conference with officials of the company, and with some of the American Federation of Labor men.

The conference lasted four hours, and when the company agreed to increase the wages of the men five cents a day, the question of the company's recognition and returning to work was put to a vote and there were only seven of the strikers who voted to reject the settlement. Officials of the company said the gates would be thrown open on Monday morning, and the fifteen hundred strikers and others who were affected by the strike will return to work.

Those who attended the conference were H. T. Keating and "Manny" Weiss, of the American Federation of Labor, who addressed the strikers in their own tongue. Colonel M. J. Reagan, of the State Board of Arbitration and Mediation; William Lewis, manager of the works, and Dr. E. K. Lyman, who represented the president of the village of Hastings-on-Hudson. The conference was called by Sheriff Doyle and took place in the meeting room of the volunteer fire department.

The employees who were receiving $1.50 a day will now receive $1.55, and those who were receiving $1.75, $2 and $2.25 will also get five-cent increases. The total increase, it was said, would cost the company $30,000 a year.

A boy tripped over a deputy sheriff's gun in front of the National Conduit and Cable Company's works here this morning and Mrs. Joseph Maraski, wife of one of the strikers, was instantly killed by a bullet that entered her breast. Strikers rushed at Charles Nossiter, the deputy, and there were cries of "lynch him! lynch him!" but the woman's husband with great presence of mind rushed out and shouted in Hungarian that it was all a mistake.

Nossiter was standing in the middle of Washington avenue, the butt of his gun resting on the ground. Sulky groups of strikers had gathered twenty feet away. The boy suddenly ran past the deputy and in passing kicked the gun to the ground. The weapon went off instantly.

Other deputies escorted Nossiter to their headquarters, where he remained until Coroner Isles arrived. The deputy was then paroled in the custody of Sheriff Boyle. Mrs. Maraski was twenty-eight years old and leaves four children. The boy responsible for the shooting disappeared.

Coroner Isles after his investigation paroled Nossiter on his own recognizance.

282 GET WORKING PAPERS

Rush of School Children Who Seek Jobs Greater than Ever.

Children in search of working papers swamped the Department of Health offices yesterday morning. In three hours 282 working papers were issued, exceeding the record for the number of hours on a corresponding Saturday a year ago, when 263 working certificates were issued in that length of time.

For the last week or more the Manhattan main office at Centre and Walker streets has issued on an average of 250 working certificates daily. This does not include the papers issued outside of Manhattan.

With the opening of the department offices yesterday morning a noisy band of girls and boys past fourteen years of age descended on the bureau of the department which issues the papers. The medical inspectors, armed at top speed trying to reduce the line that stood waiting to be examined and receive the necessary papers.

Care was taken that there were no sinkers or monkey wrenches in the trousers pockets of the boys, for in the recent months several have tried to come up to weight by such a ruse. Only a week ago part of a shoemaker's wife was found fastened about one boy's waist.

There have been numerous attempts this year to change the dates on birth certificates where the youngsters were not really old enough to go to work. It has been done so skillfully that only the sharpest attention has brought about the discovery of the altered birth papers.

To-morrow morning will see another big rush of children. Many barely wait for school to close before getting jobs here and there to make spending money during the vacation period, but others are not so anxious to go to work as their parents are to have them do so.

Each child is weighed and measured, and their eyes and mouth examined by a medical inspector.

HEALTH FILMS HELP MANY

Throngs View Pictures Showing How to Prevent Tuberculosis.

Nearly twenty thousand people have reached so far by the open air moving picture shows given in the parks by the Health Department and the Committee on the Prevention of Tuberculosis in the four performances which have been given during the last week. Health films were shown depicting stories about the human interest, but combining instruction about the prevention of disease. Lantern slides were also thrown on the screen between the films urging those who suspect they have tuberculosis to go to their doctors or to a dispensary to be examined and giving general information in regard to methods of tuberculosis prevention.

Frank H. Mann, secretary of the Committee on the Prevention of Tuberculosis, said the shows would be continued during the entire summer in most of the parks of the city, and that this week's schedule would be as follows: July 1, Tompkins Square; July 2, Hamilton Fish Park; July 3, Corlies Hook; July 4, William H. Seward Park.

MINERS MAY REJECT TAX

United Workers to Hold State Convention in Indiana.

Terre Haute, Ind., June 29.—For the purpose of considering the advisability of refusing to pay the international tax and devising means to punish persons responsible for the conditions which prevented a weekly payment contract in Indiana, the executive board of the United Mine Workers of America, District No. 11, to-day issued a call for a state convention to be held in this city beginning July 25.

The refusal to pay the international tax would mean the withdrawal from the international organization.

MANY RILLS OF PATRIOTISM

Inspiring Celebrations on July 4
Throughout Entire City.

While the observance of the Fourth will center at the City Hall, celebrations throughout the other sections of the city will comprise inspiring features, especially at Grant's Tomb, where the Harlem Board of Commerce, which is arranging the programme, will have as guests Governor Dix, if he is in the city, Borough President McAneny and Police Commissioner Waldo. At this point there will be a band concert by Etzel's Military Band, the reading of the Declaration of Independence by Miss Constance von Wahl, president of the Undergraduates' Association of Barnard College, an oration by Walter M. Chandler, the firing of the national salute by a platoon of the 1st Regiment Field Artillery, a song recital by a chorus of school children and a drill by several companies of the national guard.

At Fort Clinton, McGowan's Pass, Central Park, exercises under the auspices of the City History Club will be held at 9:30 a. m. They will include a band concert, the raising of the colors by the Continental Guard, an address by R. P. Bolton, orations by Howard C. Green and Samuel H. Bishop and the singing of patriotic songs by a boys' chorus.

At Norton's Park, Far Rockaway, there will be a band concert, reading of the Declaration of Independence by Dr. Albert A. Shonnin, songs by a chorus from the public schools of the 5th Ward, addresses by John C. Judge, of Rockaway Beach; Samuel R. Smith and Edwin A. Maher, Jr., of Far Rockaway, and recitations by Robert Pollock and Catherine MacDonald, of the Far Rockaway High School.

Around the statue of Nathan Hale, immediately following the exercises at the City Hall, the programme will include playing by the band of the United States army from Governor's Island, singing by a chorus of 150 children from the High School of St. Peter's Church, address by General James R. O'Brien, an oration by Colonel Henry W. Knight, the playing of Colonial airs by the Pipe and Drum Corps of U. S. Grant Post, G. A. R., and addresses by Major General Daniel E. Sickles and William Wallace Grant, commander of U. S. Grant Post, G. A. R.

The Irish demonstration is to take place at Celtic Park, and some twenty thousand persons are expected to witness athletic events during the day, listen to patriotic addresses in the evening and see the fireworks display at night. The Tipperary and Clare hurlers will play at 1 p. m., then the Cork and Kilkenny football teams. Those to play are the Monaghan and Mayo, Kerry and Kildare, Reillys of Brooklyn and Osborn. Martin Sheridan will throw the discus, and there will be ring and boxing competitions. An Irish singing and dancing competition will form an interesting item, the music being supplied by Irish pipers. Another feature will be the reading of the Declaration of Independence in Gaelic.

BABY DEAD FROM RABIES

Wound Healed After She Was Bitten
by Stray Dog on June 13.

Mary Oleksi, three years old, whose home is at Fort Hamilton, Brooklyn, where her father is a soldier, died last night in the Holy Family Hospital from hydrophobia. On June 13 a stray dog bit her in the face in front of her father's house. The wound healed up, and nothing was thought of it until yesterday, when a fever set in. He called for an ambulance from the Norwegian Hospital, but the surgeon who responded insisted that she be taken at once to the Pasteur Institute. The child had another convulsion on the trolley car and was removed to the Holy Family Hospital. There she received the Pasteur treatment, but the doctors said that the disease had gone too long to be amenable to treatment.

QUEENS CITIZENS STIRRED

Grand Jury's Failure to Indict in the Judiciary Scandal Resented.

With the indictment of Joseph Cassidy, former Democratic boss of Queens; William Willett, Jr., and Louis T. Walter by the Kings County grand jury as a result of the judiciary scandal of last fall rumors are rife in Queens that the Governor and Attorney General will be asked to investigate the failure of a recent Queens County grand jury to return indictments against the accused men.

Despite the fact that in decisions rendered seven Supreme Court justices in all declared it to be their opinion that there was reasonable ground to believe a crime had been committed the Queens County grand jury refused to return an indictment following a two weeks' investigation.

MR. YFF MAKES BRIEF VISIT

Comes In on Baltic and Starts
Same Day for Porto Rico.

New York had an ephemeral visit yesterday from Mr. Yff, the flying Dutchman of the White Star liner Baltic, on his way from the East Indies to Porto Rico. If the liner had been a trifle later in arrival and if the steamship San Juan had sailed a bit earlier Mr. Yff would have spent a week in New York.

If news of the splendid sugar crops in Porto Rico had not reached the Eastern Islands and, even if they had, had not been read by Yff, the planter would not have started for this country. And during the voyage from Liverpool on the Baltic, if passengers had not accented the word "if" in deck conversations, Yff would not have been disturbed so many times, thinking some one had called him.

Mr. Yff, or Henri Yff, to be exact, is a Hollander, an engineer and a linguist who knows every "if" and "but" of ten tongues, and if the ship's manifest is correct he is forty-five years old. On leaving Liverpool he was assured that the Baltic would dock in the forenoon yesterday, and he planned to sail for Porto Rico on the San Juan that sailed at noon. But the Baltic did not dock until 10:40 a. m., and Mr. Yff was perturbed. Everybody was generous to him, however, and he got away in a taxicab soon after his arrival. The last message he sent to the pier of the San Juan was "Hold her, if possible—Yff." He caught the boat.

THE HOTEL KAATERSKILL

Opened Its Doors Thursday—Prospects for a Notable Season.

Kaaterskill, N. Y., June 29.—The Hotel Kaaterskill was opened to summer visitors on Thursday for the season of 1912. The two hundred persons who registered were greatly impressed with the improvements that have been made. The culinary department of the Kaaterskill is under the direct supervision of Harrison S. Downs. Associated with him in operating the hotel is George A. Richards, for six years connected with the Park Avenue Hotel.

The season here promises to be brilliant socially, as well as interesting in the variety of its amusements. Arrangements have been made with two of the most prominent "birdmen" to spend the summer at the Hotel Kaaterskill. They will teach young men who are desirous of learning to fly and arrange for passenger flights, which can be made at all times at very reasonable expense. This method of viewing from an aeroplane the mountain scenery with its forests and lakes will be highly popular. Efforts are being made to induce the automobile association to conduct an endurance race from New York to the Kaaterskill.

JUSTICE JENKS INDORSED

Queens Bar Association to Work for His Renomination.

Almet F. Jenks was unanimously indorsed for renomination as a justice of the Supreme Court at a special meeting of the Queens County Bar Association, held yesterday in Long Island City. His term of office expires January 1, and his successor will be elected this fall. Speakers said the bar would suffer an irreparable loss if anything deprived it of the services of Justice Jenks.

No reference was made at the meeting to the judiciary scandal which resulted in the indictment of Joseph Cassidy, William Willett, Jr., and Louis T. Walter.
